

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A system to administer a survey includes reception of indications from a user of one or more fields of a database, the fields specifying information, determination that the one or more criteria have been satisfied based on information specified in the one or more fields, and transmission of the survey to a respondent based on the determination.

10010779.120304